Learning in Action

Gerrymandering - An Intersection between Math & Social Studies

Join Tessa Steinert Evoy, Grade 7 & 8 Social Studies Teacher, and Josh Felizardo, Grade 7 & 8 Math Teacher, for an interactive mini-class about gerrymandering—the drawing of boundaries of an electoral constituency for political purposes—and understand the math skills related to this subject area. This is an opportunity to experience the intersectional nature of our curriculum through a topic that is especially relevant right now.

STEM in Middle School

Join Cindy Welch and Tara Jennings, Middle School Science Faculty, as they provide information about the science curriculum in our Middle School and provide examples of what makes learning at CRS so special.

Open Middle School Classrooms

Throughout the Open House, you will have the opportunity to explore classrooms, meet Middle School Faculty, understand the secondary school process, and learn more about our athletics program.

7:30 - 8:00 PM

Alumni & Past Parent Panel

Recent graduates of Charles River School and their parents are returning to campus to tell their stories! Listen in as our alumni share their memories and perspectives about CRS and discuss their preparation for secondary schools. Feel free to bring your questions!
